

FAQ – Regarding Tender for Research Services and the Design and Printing of a Research Paper on the ‘National Living Income in Malta’

1. Is the Equality Mark needed for prospective bidders who form part organisations who employs less than three (3) persons?

The NCPE requests that the organisations applying for the Equality Mark employ, at least, three persons since the certification process centres around the assessment of organisational structures and policies related to equality between genders.

Therefore, prospective bidders who form part of an organisation which employs less than three persons, does not need to submit the Equality Mark. However, they are requested to present documentation (such as correspondence with NCPE), which confirm this.
